Gone are the days of schlepping to dreary doctor's offices. One Medical Group, with their tasteful designs and unique business model, is redefining the typical doctor visit. Fisher has built several of their offices on the East and West coasts, including this one located on Columbus Circle in Midtown Manhattan. This doctor's office is reminiscent of a homey living room with warm tones, a fireplace and other thoughtful design details. As the builder, we faced the typical challenges of doing construction in a Manhattan high rise, which after building in New York City for three decades, is second nature to our team.
